We don’t like to brag, so we’ll let others do it for us.

At the University of California, Irvine, we’re always glad to hear our efforts are paying off. For over 50 years, we’ve been committed to providing an exceptional learning and research environment that has real-world impact across the globe. In addition to the “Top 10 Public University” accolade, UCI is the youngest campus to gain membership in the prestigious Association of American Universities. It’s no wonder UCI currently has the largest growth in freshman applications of all UC campuses and is second only to UCLA in California-resident freshman applications. In fact, this year we received over 100,000 applications, setting the stage for a bright future where students from all backgrounds come together to learn and grow. That’s the Power of I.
