A storied art collection. An exquisite, unparalleled collection of nearly 5,000 paintings, sculptures and other pieces will make UCI’s planned museum and institute for Californiart the nation’s premier showcase for Golden State artworks. The museum will house the Buck Collection, a wide-ranging trove that was willed to the university by developer Gerald Buck, and The Irvine Museum Collection, which consists of more than 3,500 works of California plein air art amassed by the Irvine family. The museum will be dedicated to the exhibition, preservation and study of California art from the early 19th century to the present.

By the books. The UCI Libraries receives over 1.7 million visitors a year to its four facilities: Langson Library, Ayala Science Library, Grunigen Medical Library and Libraries Gateway Study Center.

Clean wheels in motion. Saying goodbye to gasoline, UCI is the first university in the nation to convert its diesel buses to an all-electric fleet. The zero-emission Anteater Express transit system joins the campus’s hydrogen fuel cell bus, which debuted in 2015 as the first of its kind on a UC campus.

Retooling the future of health. Following a record-setting $200 million naming gift from longtime UCI supporters Susan and Henry Samueli, the Susan and Henry Samueli College of Health Sciences is the first university-based health sciences enterprise to incorporate integrative health research, teaching and patient care across its schools and programs, including medicine, nursing, pharmaceutical sciences and public health.
